WHY INTO

What Makes INTO Different

Every INTO program is managed on site, so students can focus on their studies and daily life abroad.

Official Local Guardian
A U.S. citizen who has lived in the area for 30 years serves as INTO's official guardian.

Managed Dormitory Life
Students share twin rooms, separated by gender, with international-student mentors looking after daily life.

Accredited School
Our early study-abroad school in Texas is an accredited private school (AdvancED, now Cognia).

Parents Included
Parent-accompanied camps offer a Parent Academy (U.S. admissions, visas, student life, scholarships) and 1:1 career counseling.

From Camp to University
One team plans the whole path: camp experience, preparation, boarding school and university.

Our local teams in the U.S., the Philippines, Malaysia and Chiang Mai, Thailand welcome students and parents in person.

CAMP

INTO Camps:
Study and Life Training

INTO camps are about learning and life training. Beyond academics, we also look after daily habits and character.

01 Real Classes at a U.S. Private School
Schooling camp students join regular classes and after-school activities at a private school in Texas.

02 An Environment Where English Is a Must
Students live alongside local students. In the Philippines, camps run six hours of native-speaker classes a day under a 24-hour English policy.

03 Self-Management Habits
Phone management, set bedtimes and shared meal duties build self-management through community life.

04 Finish One English Book
Students read one English book from cover to cover during the U.S. camp.

05 Learning Through Culture
Small tours about twice a week, plus seasonal trips (LA in summer and winter, NBA and football games in fall).

U.S. camps accept children from age 5; parents must accompany children in Grade 4 or below. Camp options and seasonal schedules are provided at consultation, and seats are assigned in the order deposits are confirmed.
